

KEONNECTED.COM WEBSITE UTILISATION CONDITIONS

DATA PROTECTION

It is important to us to respect your privacy and in particular to ensure the protection of your personal data. This document explains how we treat the data that you entrust to us, whether it is on our website or during our e-mail marketing operations. To allow you to order, buy, or adapt our services via Internet, we inevitably have to capture your personal data. This way we can optimize our offer and continuously respond to your needs. Let us specify that, during processing the personal data, we base ourselves on the Swiss legislation governing the data protection.

Customer data

When you visit our site or when you read our marketing e-mails, we record certain information. You yourself also provide us with certain information (e.g. name, e-mail address, etc.) when you use our services. Finally, you hand over additional data when you use specific services (e.g. forum, evaluations, etc.), when you place your order or when you establish a direct contact with us.

Commercial relations with third parties

Our website and our marketing e-mails include various links allowing the access to offers of third parties. We can not influence the way how the third parties treat the personal data obtained through these links. For any additional information, please contact directly the concerned third parties. We decline any responsibility regarding the content of the third party websites and the data protection provisions supplied by the aforementioned third parties.

Data utilisation and transmission

We need your personal data to be able to provide you with our services. As a customer, you authorize us to use these data within our organization and our partner organizations for marketing purposes.

Modifications

We reserve a right to modify our website as well as our website utilisation conditions at any time.

EXCLUSION OF RESPONSIBILITY

Responsibility

Any responsibility of the keonconnected.com website owner (including the case of negligence) that could arise from the access to the website elements or their utilisation (respectively from the impossibility of the access or utilisation) is excluded.

Our website contains links to third party websites. Please note that these websites are neither exploited nor supervised by our means. Therefore we refuse any responsibility concerning their content or the relative legal data protection provisions supplied by the owners of these websites.

Copyright

It is necessary to presume that information that can be consulted on the Keonconnected.com website or appearing in its marketing e-mails are protected by the copyright legislation and their utilization for commercial purposes is authorized only with the author agreement, realizing remuneration.